What Flavor Are You?

Answers:

If you answered mostly a's then you are a "Strawberry" ice cream personality:

The love for strawberry reveals you to be a thoughtful, detail-oriented and logical person who carefully weighs each option before making a decision. Comfortable with being more a follower than a leader, you are content and effective working behind the scenes and out of the limelight. Although you may be shy and slow to make a close friend, once you commit to a friendship, you are loyal and supportive to the end! If you are a sports lover, then there is only one sport for you, whatever that one is whether you're good at it or not!

If you answered mostly b's then you are a "Chocolate" ice cream personality:

If you like chocolate, you are lively, creative, dramatic, charming, enthusiastic and the life of the party. Chocolate fans enjoy being at the center of attention and can become bored with the usual routine. A "Chocolate" personality has many friends and values their close friendship with others. For the chocolate sports fan - you are a lover of all sports and play as many as you can.

If you answered mostly c's then you are a "Vanilla" ice cream personality:

If you like vanilla, you are colorful, impulsive, a risk taker who sets high goals and has high expectations of yourself. You also enjoy close family relationships more than having a large group of friends and are a private person. You live a hectic, busy lifestyle. A "Vanilla" loves to be catered to and likes the finer things in life. A sportsy "Vanilla" plays and loves only the sport or sports which they are best at.
